

How does the SOS Dan Buoy work when someone falls overboard?

The compact SOS Dan Buoy33 is ready-to-go

Just throw and inflates when it hits the water

- It is housed in its own valise
- When there is an emergency of MOB this simple safety aid can be thrown as is, no need to set or activate.
- It is water activated within seconds of immersion and stands 2 metres above the water level.
- The SOS Dan Buoy then inflates marking the area where the swimmer is.
- The SOS Dan Buoy has a large sea anchor, grab handles, whistle and ribbon flying from the top.
- The combination of the fluoro yellow colour, SOLAS reflective patches and the ribbon makes spotting much easier.
- It has SOLAS reflective patches and grab handles for the swimmer to use to assist in supporting them.
- SOS Dan Buoy uses have expanded as each purchaser introduces it into boating experiences

Such as:

- temporary channel marker
- boat handling training aid
- dive site
